Sewell, Cockrill, Maxey, Grover and Hampton; nays—Messrs. Logan and Cameron (Pennsylvania). Messrs. exist among Masons to other and baser pur-poses. In Germany, Norway, Sweeden and Denmark, in the same way as here, no po-litical significance is attached to the gather-Harrison and Hawley were absent. Senator Cameron is known to agree with the conings of Freemasons. The progress which the fraternity has made in England since the clusions of a majority of the committee General Logan expects his minority repor-to be approved by Messra Hawley and Har commencement of the present century is truly astounding. In or about the year 1800 there were between fifty and sixty lodges rison, and says General Hawley has informed him that he is in accord with its main propwhich acknowledged the jurisdiction of the grand master of England, and they numbered osition. The majority report, which accom-panies the bill for the relief of Fitz John Porter, recites the history of the case, the the present time there are under the rule of his royal highness the Prince of Wales, court-martial and subsequent board review, and alludes to the memorial of General Por-ter, heretofore published, which is made part of the report, and concludes as follows: The action of President Arthur in remitting the grand master of England, no less than 2000 lodges, which in all number about 130,000 to 140,000 members. Besides these there are the Grand Lodges of Scotland and Ireland, unexpired portion of the sentence of Gener Porter, based on a review of the findings which, though closely akin to that of England, yet have separate rulers. They have also enormously increased in numbers and the board, relieves the present application of General Porter for restoration to the army from the objection that Congress would be reversing the sentence of the court-martial, Such is not the case. So much of the sentence as the President had the power to act upon having been by him remitted, Freemasoury seems to have a peculiar fascination for the American mind, and we should be rather under than over in esti-mating the number of brethren in the United It now remains for Congress to perform that act of justice which the report of the board emphatically recommends in the following language: "Having thus given reasons for our conclusions, we have the honor to report, in accordance with the President's order, that in our opinion justice requires at our hands such action as may be necessary to annul and set aside the findings and sentence of the court-martial in the case of Major-General Fitz John Porter, and to restore There can, however, be no doubt that since the heir apparent was elected to the position in Masonry which he so well and worthily him to the position of which that sentence deprived him, such restoration to take effect from the date of his dismissal from the serrice." The committee are of the opinion that the report of said board exhausted the sub-ject and that Fitz John Porter should be, as occupying more public attention, made great to advance further on the path of prosperity.
